A NEW REVELATION IN COVER CROP SEEDING

COVER CROP SEEDER FOR THE ROLLING HARROW®!

- Pull behind a lead tillage tool or by itself for faster planting of value-adding cover crops.
- Works the seed into the soil for a more consistent stand than traditional broadcasting.
- 40.5 cubic foot hopper capacity, standard roll-tarp, side-viewing windows and indicator lights.
- Hydraulic rate control requires 22 gpm flow and features in-cab shut off.
- Powered by a reliable air-delivery system that sends seed to the conically shaped deflectors for even seed distribution.

RAPTOR™ STRIP-TILLAGE TOOL

TERRAINPRO ROW UNIT

The Raptor strip-tillage tool features an innovative fold design for a narrow transport width and is available as a 16- or 12-row pull-type machine. Pull-type models can be integrated with a custom dry or liquid fertilizer system for applying nutrients in the row. 3-Point models are available as a 12-, 8- or 6-row machine with a heavy-duty toolbar. The ground-breaking TerrainPro row unit provides the most consistent tillage depth across the entire toolbar and is designed to work efficiently in varying soil conditions.

This bus is available to transport individuals with mobility issues or a disability between the main grounds, field demonstrations, and the Gwynne Conservation Area. It is located at the shuttle area at the west end of the grounds (see map in center of program).

Welcome to the 2021 Farm Science Review!

An educational program of The Ohio State University College of Food, Agricultural, and Environmental Sciences (CFAES)

On behalf of all of us at CFAES, I welcome you to the 59th annual Farm Science Review at the Molly Caren Agricultural Center, brought to you by The Ohio State University College of Food, Agricultural, and Environmental Sciences (CFAES).

Our staff and many contributors to the event are excited to share ways we are improving your Farm Science Review experience. The site is packed with new ideas, services, and equipment for you to improve your agricultural business. We're especially excited this year to offer the iFarm Immersive Theatre brought to you by Nationwide, Ohio Farm Bureau, and OSU Extension. Similar to an IMAX theater, this fully immersive dome utilizes 360-degree video for viewing agriculture-based films produced in-house by CFAES staff.

While research, teaching, and serving communities throughout Ohio never stopped during the pandemic, we are grateful to once again be in person, working together, to advance our industry. Farm Science Review is a critical component of our land-grant mission to provide research-based information and practical education to the people of Ohio and beyond. Thank you to our many partners who help make Farm Science Review a success.

Best wishes,

Cathann A. Kress

Farm Science Review Hall of Fame Honorees

Each year, Farm Science Review honors individuals who go above and beyond to ensure the best possible show experience for visitors, as well as the continued sustainability of the Molly Caren Agricultural Center. Jim Karcher, Gerald Reid, and Ken Ulrich were inducted into the FSR Hall of Fame as the 2021 honorees. The 2020 FSR Hall of Fame honorees, Dave Donohue and Mike Miller, were also honored at the August banquet with this year's recipients.

2021 FSR Hall of Fame Honorees

JIM KARCHER, Apple Creek

Jim Karcher, former manager of grounds at CFAES Wooster, was selected as an inductee to the FSR Hall of Fame because of his many contributions to the show, including his work with the field demonstration group, an excellent demonstration of exhibitor relations, and an innovative approach to visitor safety. As a result of his knowledge and experience as grounds manager, Karcher was instrumental in the selection and procurement of landscape materials planted at the Molly Caren Agricultural Center for the annual farm show.

GERALD REID, Wooster

Gerald Reid, an Ohio State alumnus and former manager of farm operations at CFAES Wooster, began his service to the show in 1992, when he began assisting with the transportation group at FSR. He assumed the lead role for that group in 1996. In this role, Reid was instrumental in improving the safety of the shuttle bus system. As a result of the evaluation system he initiated and developed for the shuttle tractor drivers, the quality and ability level of that group continues to improve to this day.

Reid stepped down from his responsibilities at FSR after the 2016 show to assume the presidency of the national Research Center Administrators Society. Also, prior to retiring from Ohio State, he led the organic crops program at CFAES Wooster.

KEN ULRICH, South Charleston

Ken Ulrich, previously holding positions in poultry and feed mill sciences within CFAES, was a long-time employee of Farm Science Review, having greatly contributed to farm operations throughout the years. Ulrich joins the other Hall of Fame inductees because of his leadership as a mentor and role model for the many student employees who have benefited from his wisdom over the years. Known for his commitment and upbeat personality, Ulrich's passion for working at the Molly Caren Agricultural Center and preparing for the show were evident in the many long hours he spent on the grounds.

2020 FSR Hall of Fame Honorees

DAVE DONOHUE, Centerburg

Dave Donohue was a champion for Farm Science Review throughout his career as national show manager for John Deere. He was instrumental in elevating the national recognition of FSR among the Farm Show Council, other major ag equipment manufacturers—such as Case IH, New Holland, and AGCO—and other exhibitors. Donohue maintained a close relationship with the show management team, providing his input, praises, and concerns from an exhibitor point of view to help better the show for everyone involved. Additionally, he initiated the agreement with Ag-Pro (formerly JD Equipment) in London that provides FSR with a continued supply of new and innovative agricultural and landscaping equipment to maintain the Molly Caren Agricultural Center and the show's farming operation. Donohue's ongoing support of Farm Science Review has played a pivotal role in making the show relevant year after year within the ag industry and to countless visitors.

MIKE MILLER, London

Mike Miller has been a longtime exhibitor and supporter of Farm Science Review in his role as president of MRC Sales and Service. Aside from donating countless hours of labor, his connections with industry vendors across the country have been invaluable to the FSR management team and have resulted in the procurement of special pricing and donations of equipment. Miller's largest contributions to FSR, both literally and figuratively, have taken shape at the Molly Caren Agricultural Center's grain facility, including the construction of a highly automated grain dryer, and then subsequent major renovations to the grain-handling and storage structures in 2014. Under Miller's leadership, this project added 100,000 bushels of new grain storage and high-capacity equipment to accommodate FSR's modern farm operations. Miller's contributions to FSR continue to this day, as does his high regard in the millwright industry across the country. His willingness to always lend a helping hand at FSR, whether it's after hours or during harvest, is critical to Farm Science Review's successful farming operation.

AGRONOMIC CROPS TEAM

(Agronomy Plots, just inside the exhibit area between gates B and C)

The OSU Extension Agronomic Crops Team provides timely information to corn, soybean, wheat, and forage producers all year long. One tool the team uses is the weekly C.O.R.N. Newsletter at agcrops.osu.edu. At the Farm Science Review, we provide an overview of the work we do throughout the state through small plot demonstrations. Ohio State University staff members will be in the plot area each day to visit with farmers and consultants about agronomic issues and solutions.

First, discover what compaction is costing your farm. Stop by and learn about pinch row compaction and management strategies. After that, move back through the plots and learn more about managing the challenges you may face with cover crop adoption, ranging from when to roller crimp cereal grains, to what species of cover crops survive under the corn canopy, to how to merge your residual herbicide program with cover cropping.

Slide over to the northeast side of the plots and learn more about both perennial and annual forage production. Then continue on to learn more about insect resistance in Bt corn and potential management practices for ear rot.

Finally, visit the soybean area highlighting management options for soybean cyst nematode and soybean aphid, along with considerations on soybean seeding populations.

Be sure to stop by the tent and learn about the resources we have available and pick up a copy of the 2021 eFields Report. We will also have virtual reality tours of the Ohio State wheat breeding program and multiple agronomy research stations around Ohio. Stop by and visit with Ohio's agronomy Extension educators throughout the show.

WATER QUALITY

The CFAES Water Quality Initiative uses science, innovation, partnership, and education to improve Ohio's water quality. Stop by the Agronomic Crops area to learn more about how our water quality Extension associates are engaging farmers in new production strategies, technologies, and best management practices to improve fertilizer use efficiency and farm profitability while promoting soil health and reducing nutrient and sediment losses within the western Lake Erie basin. Share your thoughts on water quality and your priorities for applied on-farm research with our team.

AGRICULTURAL SAFETY AND HEALTH

AGRICULTURAL SAFETY (426 Friday Ave., along Kottman Street)

- Combine Fire Prevention
- Grain Bin Engulfment Rescue Systems
- Grain C.A.R.T. (Comprehensive Agricultural Rescue Trailer)
- Grain Dust Simulator
- Rescue Demos

OHIO AGRABILITY (426 Friday Ave., Ohio State Big Top)

- Productivity Tools: Interactive equipment and vendor exhibit for farming with a disability
- Peer Network Meetings: 1–2 p.m. daily
- “AgrAbility Bus” Shuttle Service to Field Demos (pick up located at west end of Friday Avenue)
- Universal Design in the Garage or Farm Shop (McCormick Building on Friday Avenue)
- Gardening Across the Lifespan: Tips for Gardening with Arthritis, Low Vision, and Other Age or Health-Related Conditions
- Wednesday, 10 a.m., at Utzinger Memorial Garden on Friday Avenue
- Body Mechanics and 10 Tips for Safe Lifting
- Thursday, 10 a.m., at Small Farm Center Building

ALUMNI AND FRIENDS OF CFAES AND OHIO 4-H TENT

(387 Friday Ave.)

Alumni and friends of Ohio 4-H and the College of Food, Agricultural, and Environmental Sciences are invited to stop in between exhibits to take a break with us, visit with fellow alumni, and enjoy bottled water and a treat.

ANIMAL HEALTH (426 Friday Ave., Ohio State Big Top)

COLLEGE OF VETERINARY MEDICINE

- Ohio Farm Business Summaries
- Farm Tax Regulations

AG WEATHER AND CLIMATE

The State Climate Office of Ohio (SCOO) will answer all your weather and climate questions. Stop by and share your stories on how weather extremes have impacted your operations. We will provide a review of this year's growing season weather and other seasonal outlooks. Learn about FARM: Field Application Resource Monitor, a tool providing real-time and historical precipitation forecasts to help with your farm management. We will also have two weather stations set up this year (at the Small Farms Center and the Agronomic Crops Team plots) to see how weather information is collected. For more information on SCOO, check out climate.osu.edu.

CARBON SEQUESTRATION AND CARBON MARKETS

One of the hottest topics in agriculture today is carbon sequestration and carbon markets. Carbon stored in the soil may soon become the newest commodity crop in agriculture. The idea is to farm in a manner that allow crops to capture carbon dioxide from the atmosphere and store it in the soil, thus reducing the amount of greenhouse gases contributing to atmospheric warming. New carbon markets are emerging that give farmers a financial incentive to store carbon. But before you sign a long-term commitment, you should do your homework. There are more questions than answers right now as to how these markets will function. Take some time at this year's Farm Science Review to learn more from CFAES experts in soil science, forestry, and agricultural law before you sign on the bottom line.

Carbon Markets and Ohio Agriculture: Supporting our Farmers Wednesday, Sept. 22, 9–9:45 a.m.

Panelists: Rattan Lal (CFAES School of Environment and Natural Resources, 2020 World Food Prize laureate), Ohio Soybean Council, Ohio Corn & Wheat, Ohio Farm Bureau, Ohio Dairy Producers Association, The Nature Conservancy (Ohio Chapter) ... and more!

Soil Organic Matter and Carbon Sequestration: The Rundown Thursday, Sept. 23, 9–9:45 a.m.

Panelists: Brian Slater and Leonardo Deiss (CFAES School of Environment and Natural Resources)

OSU EXTENSION RESOURCES

CAREER EXPLORATION FAIR

(Celebration Tent near Gate I)

Wednesday, Sept. 22, 10 a.m. to noon

Visit with companies about employment or how to educate or train to become employees in agricultural businesses.

ENERGY TENT

(426 Friday Ave., Ohio State Big Top)

As agricultural operations have become more sophisticated and automated, the electrical demands of many farms have increased, requiring enhanced needs for high-quality electric to power equipment. The Energy Tent illustrates ways in which farmers can reduce energy usage, lower energy cost, and learn about ways to produce their own renewable energy.

GWYNNE CONSERVATION AREA

(see schedule in center of program)

The Gwynne is a 67-acre conservation area that offers programs, exhibits, demos, talks, and guided tours during the three days of FSR. Catch a shuttle bus to the Gwynne at the west end of Friday Avenue. Shuttles run each day 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

HOME, HEALTH, AND WELLNESS

(389 Friday Ave., McCormick Building)

- AgrAbility Universal Design garage
- Madison County Public Health District
- OSU/CSU/FCS Extension Health Education
  - College of Nursing: Health screenings 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. daily
  - College of Pharmacy: Medication and Vaccine Education
  - OSU Extension: Food Safety and Preservation Education

- OSU Extension Family and Consumer Sciences
- OSU James Cancer Hospital: Skin Cancer Screening and Cancer Prevention (located just west of the McCormick Building)
- OSU Wexner Medical Center: Vaccine Education and COVID Vaccines
- State Fire Marshall: Safety house exhibit
- Universal Design exhibit: Tours 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. daily

LIVESTOCK EDUCATION CORRAL

(495 Beef St.)

Visit with Ohio State University researchers and Extension educators for information on beef quality assurance, transport quality assurance, hay storage demonstration, forage quality, custom processing information, and livestock educational resources.

NUTRIENT MANAGEMENT

(495 Beef St.)

Visit us to learn about how to better utilize manure nutrients, how to side-dress corn with liquid manure, how to top-dress wheat with liquid manure, and how many tons per acre your manure spreader applies.

PESTICIDE AND FERTILIZER APPLICATOR EXHIBIT

(1005 Beef St.)

Learn to keep pesticides on target with the latest spray drift technology. Find out more about Ohio pesticide laws, as well as agricultural nutrient laws, and speak with experts about recordkeeping, personal protective equipment, and storage requirements. Need pesticide or fertilizer recertification credits? We can help!

MENTAL HEALTH RESOURCES

(426 Friday Ave., Ohio State Big Top)

When you live where you work, and work where you live, it all adds up to extra stress. Please stop by our booth to learn more about resources to add to your toolbelt in order to support a stress-less lifestyle. The resources are county and statewide. Our team also offers a variety of trainings that you may want to learn more about attending in the future on spotting when to seek support from someone.

SMALL FARMS CENTER

(155 Beef St., corner of Corn Avenue and Beef Street)

Sponsored by the Ohio State Sustainable Agriculture Team, the Small Farms Center provides information to smaller-acreage farming operations. In addition to scheduled talks, poster displays are available on many topics relevant to small farm businesses.

SMALL FARMS CENTER – TENT Sponsored by: Ohio State Sustainable Agriculture Team

Title: “Carbon Markets: From All Sides Now”

Tuesday, Sept. 21, 9:30 to 10:30 a.m.

Panelists: Ian Sheldon (moderator), Luke Crumley, Jessica D’Ambrosio, Peggy Hall, Brent Sohngen

OHIO YOUTH RESILIENCE COLLABORATIVE

(426 Friday Ave., Ohio State Big Top)

Promoting resilience and empowering youth, families, and communities. The Ohio Youth Resilience Collaborative (OYRC) supports counties across the state to implement evidence-based substance misuse prevention and mental health promotion programming. OYRC is a collaborative partnership with members from the College of Public Health; the College of Education and Human Ecology; and the College of Food, Agricultural, and Environmental Sciences, including OSU Extension. The collaborative partners with local schools, health departments, prevention coalitions, and community members in 15 counties to ensure that all communities have access to high-quality, effective, and integrated prevention initiatives for students and families.

Community support and engagement are vital to the success of the Ohio Youth Resilience Collaborative. Community teams in each of the counties work together to plan and implement prevention programming and events. To learn more about county-level programs and partners, visit u.osu.edu/ohioyrc/.

STAMP OUT DISEASE!

(426 Friday Ave., Ohio State Big Top)

Interactive, hands-on learning about diseases in animal agriculture. Play the “Stamp Out Disease” arcade game and learn facts about viruses, bacteria, vaccines, and disease risks around the home.

ESPECIALLY FOR TEENS AND KIDS!

FUTURE BUCKEYES: BE THE ONE!

COLLEGE OF FOOD, AGRICULTURAL, AND ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCES

(383 Friday Ave., Bailey Building)

Stop by to meet with academic experts from the College of Food, Agricultural, and Environmental Sciences at the Columbus and Wooster campuses. Our building features information and activities from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. each day. High school students will learn about our majors and career opportunities.

COLLEGE OF VETERINARY MEDICINE

(426 Friday Ave., Ohio State Big Top)

Stop by our tent to learn more about becoming a student in the College of Veterinary Medicine.

CENTRAL STATE UNIVERSITY

(Lot 599, Corner of Soybean Avenue and Beef Street)

Visit Central State University Extension for resources and information on land-grant research and extension programs.

iFARM IMMERSIVE THEATRE

(483 Land Ave.) NEW!

New for the 2021 Farm Science Review is the iFarm Immersive Theatre! Visit the iFarm Immersive Theatre for an experience similar to an IMAX theater for viewing agriculture-based films. Topics include a ride on a crop duster applying fungicide, exploration of natural habitats, inside a beehive, an aerial tour of Ohio, multiple machinery demonstrations, and more! Visit the iFarm Immersive Theatre for a complete listing of films. The iFarm Immersive Theatre is brought to you by Nationwide, Ohio Farm Bureau, and OSU Extension.

UTZINGER MEMORIAL GARDEN

(near Friday Avenue and Market Street)

Presentations will take place in the gazebo. Master Gardener Volunteers will be available throughout the garden to answer gardening questions, and the “Ask a Master Gardener” online program will be on site with information. A variety of beekeeper associations will answer questions about how to become a beekeeper and will show some of the equipment needed to get started.

We keep families farming.

The world needs America's family farms to produce more than ever before, so keeping farms profitable has never been more crucial. ADS and drainage contractors across the nation are proud to offer water management solutions to improve yields, increase farmable acres and create sustainable water practices that protect the land for future farming generations.

See our solutions for farm families at adspipe.com/markets/agriculture.

WHY IS "ENGINEERED" IMPORTANT?

An engineered pole barn is designed to meet all building requirements and load specifications designated for the area the building will be located. At Lester, we take pride that from the roof trusses and purlins all the way down to the foundation, every component that makes up an engineered pole barn is constructed to meet or exceed those requirements and specifications.

In the photo below, a competitor building (1) with an attached Lester addition (2) only suffers damage on the competitor portion of the building while the Lester section remains untouched after a derecho hit Iowa in August 2020.
